PRIZE MONEY FOR HUNTERS

According to the specifications of the American Horse Shows Association, in order to secure an A rating for its Hunter Division, a show must offer a minimum of 7 classes and $750 in prize money. For a similar rating in its Saddle Horse Division, however, a show must offer a minimum of 7 classes and $2,000 in prize money—$285 per class as compared with $107 per hunter class, a difference of 166%.

Why? The A, B & C rating system was first put into effect in the Hunter Division when your editor was chairman of the A.H.S.A. Hunter and Jumper Committee. Proving popular it was later extended to other Divisions. The directors of the Association, under the leadership of President Adrian van Sinderen, with the thought that A Divisions should be set up in from 10 to 15% of the shows and B Divisions in from 20 to 25%, made a survey to determine what numbers of classes and what sums of prize money were then being offered in the principal shows obviously entitled to the higher ratings. On the basis of this survey the specifications for Hunter and Saddle Horse A and B Division ratings were accordingly fixed.

All this was a decade ago. How is it working out in practice? In drawing up a prize list the primary object is to attract as many entries as possible—the greater the amount of prize money the greater number of entries. Since so many of even our larger shows place major dependence, not on gate receipts, but on entry fees, it is obvious that the amount of the latter must determine, to a considerable extent the amount of prize money which a show can afford to offer. This is quite in line with the successful campaign of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association which has insisted that purses total at least a given percentage of the gross received by race track management.

The records of the American Horse Shows Association office indicate that Hunter entries far exceed Saddle Horse entries, both in numbers and amounts received therefore. Obviously Hunter exhibitors are not getting their fair share of total show receipts from entries. It may of course be said that if shows can get a lot more Hunter than Saddle Horse entries for less than half the money, there is no need for them to put up more. Actually the Hunter Divisions are capable of much greater expansion. If horse show management, acting through the American Horse Shows Association, would raise the minimum requirements for A and B Hunter Divisions, going up say $100 a year, the increased number and receipts from entries would undoubtedly far exceed the increased prize money. Here is an opportunity for sound investment which would pay excellent dividends, not only in cash, but in promoting our sport.

Likes Henderson Article

Dear Sir:

Words from me cannot tell you how much I enjoyed that wonderfully written story, "Mr. Marland's Hounds".

The man who wrote about the hounds so well, Don Henderson, certainly shows in his many old fashioned expressions, such as "the potlickers", "hardheaded hellions", keeping them on a line instead of becoming "corner cutters", that he certainly was a hunting man which knew what he was writing about; as well as is shown by his explanations of how they had them divided into three packs.

The whole story was so well and clearly explained that it made me feel like I was right there with him and his pack. Would certainly love to read some stories he could write about some of the many runs and happenings he must have had with that pack and in those days when people hunted because they all wanted the sport of having a good long run.

These are the kind of good stories that come out in The Chronicle that makes it sure I'll always be a subscriber.

Kindest regards,
Emmett Roberts

German Horse Shows

Dear Sir:

Horse shows in Germany are increasing in numbers, quality, and attendance almost unbelievably. One held at Crailsheim, Germany, on 6-7-8 June 1958, was particularly outstanding, not only in color, events, and action, but in the notables of both the German equestrian and society worlds.

Although I was unable to attend, one of our Combat Commanders, a former horse Cavalryman did and was most enthusiastic about it. To a limited extent, in the interest of good German-American Relations, his officers and soldiers assisted in supporting the show, even as we used to do in the States!

With the prompting of the Combat Commander, Colonel Jack Yow, the President of the Crailsheim Riding Club, Dr. Hans-Joachim Gronow, (who is also the City Veterinarian,) wrote the attached article for you and forwarded the enclosed photos

*Gallant Man Suffers Defeat In Belmont's Sysonby Handicap

Raleigh Burroughs

During the dozen years preceding 1932, the art of conviviality found a new dimension. Before Prohibition, when mellowed potables were available at moderate cost, the question, after an overdose, was: "How long will it take him to come out of it, bartender?" In the era when the quality of a beverage was measured by the speed and extent of its effectiveness, the interrogation was: "DO you think he will come out of it, Doctor?"

When dealing with home-mixed chemicals or Pure Old (one-week-old) Taran-tula Venom, one of the interesting facets of the game was wondering what effect it would have on the player and how soon.

Sometimes the pain-deadening process was gradual; the patient soaked up the stuff and slowly slid under the table.

Female imbibers often ended up ON the table - face down among the bottles, or (hot-diggity) doing the Charleston.

Males, participating wholeheartedly in "sociables" of the time were prone to gain exaggerated ideas of their physical prowess ("I'm going to do something that's never before been done; I'm going to swim the English Channel - from the American side").

At a gathering in a club on the Annapolis Road in the late '20's, a young gent stood up, banged for silence with his bottle, and, while the astonished multitude watched, poured down half a pint of Three Star Drano.

If he'd stopped right there and sat down, he'd have had the admiration and respect of everyone present, but he had to reach out.

Suddenly assuming a hostile attitude (that stuff could make a rabbit go after a bulldog, they used to say) he announced that he was prepared to batter to earth any and all present who carried a canine strain in the bottom line.

Well sir, he never knew what hit him, but it was harder and faster than the stuff in the bottle. He was the most-rapidly-dethroned champion in the annals of sport.

He learned right there one of the two vital lessons taught by Prohibition - don't make loose predictions.

The other, of course, is' don't drink it until you read the label on the bottle.

Owning a good horse has an exhilarating effect and many people get a bit tipsy under the influence and start making claims and predictions and outlining objectives.

It's much safer to sneak up on the "Horse of the Year" title and grab it while no one is looking than to say, "Ladies and gentlemen, we will now attempt to perform that most difficult of all tricks, knock over all competition and become the champ!"

It's a great trick if you can do it, but it's kind of embarrassing when you miss.

The public had just been made aware of the fact that *Gallant Man was trying for Horse of the Year, when the gallant bay was slapped down flatter than that fellow in the roadhouse near Annapolis.

Sysonby Handicap

It was in the one-mile Sysonby Handicap, on September 6th, and he had 134 pounds of excuses, but the fact that people were looking for him to smash through to the title made him a very conspicuous loser. The 65-to-100 odds also helped emphasize the loss.

Declaration of intention might have been all right for Babe Ruth, who, some say, pointed to the bleachers and then smacked the ball to the spot indicated (and some say he didn't), but, usually, it is best to play the cards close to the vest. You don't look so bad when you lose.

*Gallant Man is a very fine racehorse and his effort in the Sysonby wasn't "typical". He likes more distance and he needed a race - hadn't been out for six weeks.

Cohoes The Winner

Really, instead of dwelling upon *Gallant Man's indifferent effort, stress should be placed upon the excellent performance of the winner of the Sysonby, Greentree Stable's four-year-old colt Cohoes.

Following close to the pace of Reneged and Mister Jive, he came to the stretch just about tied with those two and outfought Mister Jive in the run to the wire.

Carrying 116 pounds, Cohoes covered the eight furlongs in 1:35 flat, one-fifth of a second slower than the track mark and earned a head victory. Reneged, under 124, was three lengths back in third place and a neck ahead of Tick Tock. *Gallant Man was 1 1/4 lengths farther back in fifth place at the end.

He was far behind the leaders in the early running, made a move coming around the turn, but didn't have the finishing power to get around the horses ahead.

John Ruane rode Cohoes and was congratulated by Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson for his horsemanship in the winner's circle after the race. Mrs. Payson, with her brother, John Hay Whitney, owns the Greentree Stable.

A son of *Mahmoud, from the Blue Larkspur mare, Belle of Troy, Cohoes dragged down $18,355 for winning the Sysonby. That put his 1958 money total at $100,015. He has 5 wins, a second and a third in 8 races. Last season he won 5 of 12 and $46,775.

John Gaver trains Cohoes. Greentree bred him.

ber 1, when he scored in the 89th running of Belmont's Jerome Handicap.

Under Eddie Arcaro, the colt found good position early and had aim on the pace-setting Jester after he had gone half of the scheduled mile.

Warhead took command coming around the bend and drew out to win easily by five lengths. Piano Jim, the favorite and second high-weight under 121 pounds, finished second. Jester hung on for third and Deadeye Dick was fourth.

Strong Bay, high-weight (123), did some running in the early stages but fell back to finish tenth.

Warhead carried 118 pounds.

He earned $19,362.50 to shove up his 1958 score to $35,992.50.

He won 2 races and $7,565 last year. Warhead is a son of Battle Morn, out of Headfirst, by Eurasion or Head Play. E. C. Sachse trains him.

Washington-at-Arlington

There is very little chance that Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem will be voted the Horse of the Year, but he has given some uncomfortable moments to owners who cherish the hope that their representatives will be selected.

The four-year-old son of *Shannon II-Impulsive, by Supremus, missed by a nose in the Suburban, won by Bold Ruler and failed by the same margin behind Round Table in the Armour Memorial.

THE CHRONICLE

On Labor Day, he went all the way, defeating Round Table in the one-mile Washington Park Handicap, and he picked a good one. He earned $94,175, brought a payoff of $21.80 in the two-buck mutuels, and set a new track record of 1:34.

Clem, under 110 to Round Table's 131, got to the lead before he had gone half a mile.

Nadir (under 114) tried to reach the leader and couldn't make it and then Round Table came on to nip Nadir, but he was still 3 1/4 lengths back of Clem at the end.

Indian Creek was fourth.

J. Sellers rode the winner.

Clem had only one 1958 win in 14 starts, going into the Washington Park Handicap, but his earnings - through placing in rich contests - amounted to $108,672. His season's total now stands at $202,845.

As a three-year-old, Clem won $171,100, with 4 wins in 10 starts.

The colt is trained by W. W. Stephens. He was bred by Louis B. Mayer.

Atlantic City

The Labor Day feature at Atlantic City was the 1 3/16-mile Atlantic City Handicap and the customers enjoyed a surprise ending when *Munch, the only female in the race for three-year-olds, galloped away from the boys.

The Tartan Stable's filly started slowly in the turf-course event, but began to roll going down the backstretch. With a mile covered, she was 8 1/2 lengths back of Li'l Fella, the leader, and cut that margin to three in the next sixteenth.

In the stretch *Munch whistled past her Thoroughbred brothers and drew out to win by 3 1/2. Hillsdale took second place over Li'l Fella, which had the same margin over Victory Morn.

A Dragon Killer, the choice, finished sixth, but he was only about a length behind the second horse in the tight finish for the lesser monies. He pulled up lame.

*Munch earned $39,147.50. She has won 4 out of 6 1958 races including a division of the Cleopatra Handicap, and been second once. Her earnings add up to $68,052.50. Last year, in England, she won 5 of her 6 races.

Howard Grant rode *Munch in the Atlantic City Handicap.

The filly is trained by J. W. Sceusa. She was bred in Ireland by J. J. Dolan, and is by Mustang, from Ate, a daughter of Phideas.

The Tartan Stable belongs to William McKnight.

While the tourists were awaiting the Miss America finals at the Atlantic City Convention Hall, the horse park adjacent to the town put on the Miss America Turf Handicap (Saturday, September 6).

It is for females of various ages, just like the talent-and-beauty show.

Calumet's Iron Liege, 1957 Kentucky Derby Winner

H. A. "JIMMY" JONES, trainer at Calumet Farm, says:

"Iron Liege, like all Calumet horses, gets Absorbine care ..."

"I have been using Absorbine since 1920," says Mr. Jones. "It is particularly good for its tightening and cooling qualities, and is an excellent body bracer and astringent. I use it consistently on all of the Calumet Farm horses, and I don't know of any other liniment that will do so many things for a horse so well."

Since 1892, Absorbine has been a byword in stables where the conditioning and care of horses is a first consideration. It does not blister the skin or remove hair. A large bottle with complete instructions, costs only $2.50 at any druggist.

Steeplechasing at Belmont

John E. Cooper

The J. S. Harrison Steeplechase run as a memorial to the rider who lost his life in a spill at Belmont Park in 1945 was an eventful race run under handicap conditions on Thursday, Sept. 4th. Drawing a field of seven well matched brush horses of the seven finishing within a couple of lengths of each other.

Winner Carries Top Weight

Independence, the top weight at 155 lbs., and the eventual winner, went to the top shortly after the break and set a moderate pace for a turn of the field, with Paddy Smithwick on *Narcissus 2nd (147 lbs.) doing a man-sized job on his mount rating off in second place. Dromond (145 lbs.), Blen More (146 lbs.) *Hurst Park (144 lbs.), Carthage (130 lbs.) and Tarboots (142 lbs.) followed pretty much in that order as the field rounded into the front side the first time. Crossing the Widener Chute at this point, the crowd was mystified when Albert Foot pulled up Dromond, the well played third choice, for no clearly discernible reason. It later developed that his tack had slipped and the nautically bred son of Annapolis had his lead pad go overboard. Meanwhile Tommy Walsh on Independence continued to show the way by more than daylight, and as the field rounded into the far side it was still anyone's race except for Tarboots. The latter fenced poorly at several of his fences, and slowly dropped out of contention. Racing for the far turn, Walsh attempted to increase his lead, but Smithwick sent *Narcissus 2nd after him about two or three lengths further back, while Hoey on Blen More made a bid which appeared equal of taking the lead except for bad racing luck. Trying to go inside of *Narcissus 2nd, there wasn't quite enough room, and Hoey had to stand up and go around, a move which could well have cost him the race. Rounding into the stretch and up to the final jump, Independence still held sway, but *Narcissus 2nd was getting to him, with Blen More on the outside, on almost even terms with *Narcissus 2nd. In a nerve tingling finish these three drove for the wire. Each stride saw Smithwick inch closer to Walsh, but the latter just held to score by what the charts describe as a head, but which the picture showed to be a thin nose. A length and three quarters away, Blen More was third, with Carthage lapped on him for fourth, just a nose to the good of *Hurst Park. The latter, making his first start since his record breaking run at Saratoga, was making a good race of it in the Harrison until he got into the Liverpool the last time around.

The Harrison was the first score of the year for Walsh color-bearer, considered among the top 'chasers of 1957, and a very creditable one, considering the hard fall he took in his last start. His time for the about two miles and a furlong was a modest 4:06 1/5.

Versus Wins

The first jumping event of the fall meeting at Belmont was on Friday, August 29th. Much to the delight of steeplechase enthusiasts a classy field of ten three-year-olds went postward in a mile and a half maiden hurdle. The winner was Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Versus, a gelded son of *Ambiorix out of the Eight Thirty mare, Antagonism. Ridden by Paddy Smithwick, Versus was in the first flight all the way, took the lead around the last turn and then raced for the final hurdle. On the outside of him, Evan Jackson on Negocio, made a game bid coming to this hurdle. Versus on the inside, jumped out, while Negocio appeared to drift in, which resulted in some bumping. *Negocio, slightly behind Versus at the time, took the worst of it, and finished about four lengths behind the winner. It was another eight lengths back to Cain Hoy Stable's Winging Star, a first time hurdle starter, with Ben Arthur and Royal Clipper following in that order. As might be expected, most of the field were "green", and there was considerable swerving at each of the eight hurdles, but the quality of the field spoke well for the future, and was heartening to those who have argued for more three-year-old racing over hurdles. Evan Jackson on *Negocio lodged a claim of interference against Smithwick, but the Stewards disallowed it.

Tremere Scores

Sanford Stud Farm's Tremere was the easiest kind of a winner on Tuesday, Sept 2nd, in a two mile and a furlong 'chase, coming up to the finish line three and a half lengths in front, with John Cotter his rider, looking back all though the stretch. The race was lent considerable interest in that it brought out *Cloonroughan, making his debut over the larger fences, as well as *Chufquen, a Chilean fencer with an impressive record of wins in his native land. Unfortunately, *Cloonroughan fell at the first fence and the invader from Chile popped a splint and wound up fourth. Mrs. June McKnight's *Darubini ran a good race to place behind Tremere, with Eastcor a length and three quarters back for third money. The race was marred somewhat when Mancus, leading at the time, got in deep at the Liverpool the second time, broke his hind leg and had to be destroyed. The following day a field a ten matched strides in a mile and seven furlong race over hurdles. The winner by a neck was Pilgrim's Cloak, owned by S. H. R. Fred of Middleburg, and trained by his son-in-law, Mike Smithwick. It might be said that Pilgrim's Cloak won, not so much by being the best horse, but by virtue of superior riding. Placed prominently all through the running, Paddy Smithwick kept his mount out of trouble, sat quietly until entering the backstretch. Then moving forward he got into a striking position, was third around the final turn, got the lead after clearing the final hurdle, and then just got up in a drive. The runner-up, *Negocio, led for most of the way, but was well used in turning back various bids throughout the running. Three lengths further back, Ragtime Cowboy under Eddie Deveau was third, after trailing his field by more than twenty lengths a mile from home. Winging Star, the fourth horse, was second over the final hurdle, but faded in the run in on the flat. It appeared that Jimmy Hobales his rider, made several attempts to get to the lead, but never quite got there.

Three For Paddy Smithwick

Gillian Wins Trouble Maker Steeplechase At Fair Hill

Chris Wood, Jr.

What looms as a most auspicious agenda of autumn hunt racing got under way on Saturday, September 6, with the first of two sessions sponsored by the Cecil County Breeders' Fair at Fair Hill, Md. Held at the base of William duPont, Jr.'s Foxcatcher Hounds, the two days of sport operate for the benefit of the Union Hospital in adjacent Elkton. Sunny skies and warm breezes brought out an attendance of about 5,000 for the curtain-raiser.

Foxcatcher Cup

With the famous Foxcatcher Cup over the gruelling outside course dropped from the program, the 15th running of the Fair Hill Steeplechase became the feature on the 7-race card. Of the 17 nominees, 7 accepted the issue and at the conclusion of the 2-mile test over brush, Randolph D. Rouse's Curly Joe registered his 3rd victory of the year. Favored to win, Mrs. M. G. Walsh's famous Rythminhim finished 2nd, just 1 length behind the Fairfax, Va.,-owned 'chaser. Going well, but unable to threaten the embattled leaders, Mrs. Cordelia Scaife May's Billing Bear gained 3rd money, 4 1/2 lengths behind.

Coupled with Curly Joe in the pari-mutuel wagering as the D. M. Smithwicktrained entry, Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Punctuality under A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick was first away from the starter's bell, with his stablemate in close attendance. The pair ran as named until the 7th of 14 brush fences was reached, here Tommy Walsh sent the favored Rythminhim to the front, with Curly Joe holding his place position as Punctuality tired. Although well handled by the current leading 'chase rider, Rythminhim was unable to open on his field as the eventual winner was right with him until approaching the 11th jump. At this juncture Aitcheson called upon his mount for his utmost and Curly Joe went to the front and held his advantage for the balance of the journey. Over the final fence, Rythminhim seemed to be coming again, but on landing Aitcheson went to work on his mount and gradually drew away to have a 1-length advantage at the conclusion. Fresh from victory in a recent hurdle race at Saratoga, Curly Joe scored his first brush success of the year in 4:03 over a firm course.

Following Rythminhim and Billing Bear, came Punctuality, a tiring horse, but with enough left to lead Mrs. L. C. Ledyard's Still Trying and Calvin Houghland's Local Run by a lengthy margin.

The only mishap in the race was brought off over the 4th jump, where Miss Patty Weymouth's Bold Remark lost apprentice jockey John Knowles. The latter suffered no injury and came back to ride in other events.

In chalking up a 2nd victory of the day for trainer Smithwick, Curly Joe picked up a net of $2,585 from the gross purse of $3,845. This sum brought the 8-year-old's earnings for 1958 to a net of $9,140.

Timber Race

Although the Fair Hill Steeplechase was rated as the stellar attraction, the Trouble Maker, a 3-mile test over the rolling timber course was first in the hearts of those in attendance. This was proven by the fact that the public wagered a total of $5,806 on the Fair Hill in the favorable 5th position on the card. Whereas the Trouble Maker, 3rd on the card, had a total of $6,097 in the mutual pool.

Successful in the opening timber test in 1956 and '57, Capt. J. L. B. Bentley's home-bred mare Gillian came back to make it three straight. With Grover W. Stephens firmly attached to the ground as a trainer, the popular mare received an excellent ride from Harry Hatcher to defeat Alfred M. Hunt's Salt by 10 lengths. Making an initial start in his racing career, Mrs. Louis Neilson, Jr.'s Drought Year finished 3rd with the owner's son up.

Currently pacing the timber division for the United Hunts Racing Association's annual awards, Alfred H. Smith's Grand Chal was first from the bell, leading Gillian over the 1st of 19 timber fences by 3/4's of a length. This advantage was held until 4th fence at the top of a hill where Grand Chal refused. From the distant stand, it appeared that Gillian may have cut in front of Grand Chal, but no protest was registered, so the incident may have been an optical illusion from a distant vantage point. Nonetheless, Gillian went to the front over the mentioned fence, leaping past Mary March and Larry Christison. The latter came off the mare over the jump and was hastily remounting. Jockey Aitcheson circled Grand Chal and made a perfect fence on the second attempt, but at this point the pair were well distanced.

Not urged, Gillian led until the 10th jump where Mrs. John B. Hannum, 3rd's Inn Field ranged alongside and showed a scant nose in front over the obstacle. On landing Hatcher permitted the mare to pick her pace and the pair drew away from the brief threat. Over the 15th fence, it was Gillian by 4 lengths, with Inn Field, Drought Year and Salt following as named. Leading over the 19th and final fence by the same margin and the mentioned 'chasers in the same positions, Gillian drew away in the run for the wire, scoring by 10 lengths. Coming in the late stages, Salt, with Pat

THE CLUBHOUSE TURN

ROCKINGHAM HONORS

Rockingham is still buzzing over the two top turf honors bestowed within two weeks upon members of its official family. General Manager Lou Smith was tapped by the jockeys as their "Man of the Year" in racing. Leo O'Donnell, serving his 14th year in the stewards stand at Rockingham, was named by the Horsemen, through their Benevolent and Protective Association, as their "Man of the Year." Combined they represent unusual recognition to the little New Hampshire track by the side of the road.

GET RICH QUICK

Jockey Bill Hartack's horses have earned $1,663 a second in the last two runnings of The Garden State, the world's richest race. Bill was first in 1956 on Barbizon and repeated last Fall on Nadir.

PIMLICO'S EXTRA DAYS

To compensate for the five days lost during its 1957 Fall Meeting because of bad weather, the Maryland Jockey Club, operators of the Pimlico Race Course, has been granted five extra days by the Maryland Racing Commission, three of which will be held at the Laurel Race Course October 28, 29, and 30, immediately preceding Laurel's regular meeting. The other two days will be taken at the end of the Pimlico's Fall Meeting, namely on December 16 and 17.

*ARCTIC PRINCE HAS LEADING JUVENILE

By taking the Somerville Tattersall Stakes at Newmarket to record his second consecutive victory, the *Arctic Prince colt Billum has established himself as one of the leading English juveniles, for he defeated the excellent filly Ink Spot, a daughter of *My Babu who had run second in the year's most valuable juvenile event, the National Breeders' Produce Stakes, and had since won at Goodwood.

Billum is a black colt out of Catchit, a daughter of *Nasrullah who traces to Ranai, dam of Derby winner *Watling Street. He is therefore closely inbred to Nearco, who is also the sire of *Arctic Prince's dam, Arctic Sun. P. T. C.

PHOENIX STAKES FOR RAY BELL

American Ray Bell took the leading Irish tow-year-old event, the Phoenix Stakes run at Phoenix Park which is popularly known as the "Fifteen Hundred", with his Solonaway colt Getaway, whom English jockey Lester Piggott flew specially to Ireland to ride.

A 6-1 chance, Getaway easily defeated the even money favorite Sovereign Path by four lengths, with the third horse a further six lengths behind. There were eleven runners. P. T. C.

THE CHRONICLE

HARTACK AT MONMOUTH

Now that the 1958 Monmouth Park meeting has wound up, there are all sorts of tabulations on who was the leading this or that. The most remarkable leader was Bill Hartack. He rode 63 winners to 49 for the runner-up, Joe Culmone. That is good all right, but it isn't actually remarkable. In getting the 63 winners, Hartack managed to ride three successive ones on Friday, August 1, and then he came right back the next day and did it again. That wasn't good enough for him so he rode four more when racing resumed the following Monday. All together, he had three winners in one day nine times during the meeting and he had those four once. Among his wins were two stake races. He took the Lamplighter on July 23 aboard Plion and he won the Matriarch on August 5 on the dependable Searching.

That is getting to the point of being slightly remarkable, although it doesn't measure up to the performance he put on at Arlington Park on August 13, 14, and 15, 1957. In the short span of those three days, he rode four winners out of eight, five out of eight, and five out of eight for 14 winners in 24 races. That figures out to be a percentage of 58 1/3 winners out of mounts ridden which really is phenomenal.

However, here's what makes Hartack's record at Monmouth this year something to shout about. He took a crack at hurdle riding apparently not being content with having mastered flat racing well enough to be national champion three years running. Receiving a triple apprentice allowance of 10 pounds because he was a maiden hurdle jockey (can you imagine Bill Hartack's being given ANY allowance in ANY horse race?), he rode Mielaison to a four-length win in the Champion Purse over hurdles. The chart said, "Mielaison was superbly ridden...fencing cleanly," and observers said Hartack absolutely clobbered to opposition between jumps. Mielaison was not the favorite either.

Then, know what Hartack did to top it off? He turned his riding fee over to the horse's regular jockey who was aboard another animal. When you add it all up you find you have more than a full measure of pluck, skill, and good manners right there in young Hartack. If this isn't the outstanding riding feat of the year, there will have to be some beaux between now and New Year's eve. R. J. Clark

JUVENILE FROM ENGLAND

Recently purchased from Ireland by Mrs. Ethel Haffa of Chicago, is the excellent two-year-old Spithead, unbeaten winner of three races in Ireland including the Patriotic Stakes at Baldoy, one of the leading juvenile events. Spithead also raced once in England, when finishing third in the New Stakes at the Royal Ascot Meeting.

By Guersant, Spithead is out of the Panorama mare Review, who won two races; he is her first foal. P. T. C.

GRAYSON FOUNDATION

At the annual meeting of the Grayson Foundation held at Saratoga on August 14th, Clarkson Beard was elected president to serve on a full time basis. Mr. Beard commented: "This is an announcement of my resignation as manager of Greentree Farm effective September 15. I am planning to devote most of my time in the future to the Grayson Foundation. I have been interested and closely connected with the work of the organization and as a full-time executive will now be able to further the work in progress. It is with regret that I leave Greentree after many years of pleasant association. I am leaving on the friendliest of terms and am looking forward to the challenge of a great deal of work that can be done for the thoroughbred industry by the Grayson Foundation." Also elected as vice-presidents were Alfred Nuckols of Lexington, Ky. and Dr. John Youmans, chairman of the Scientific Advisory Committee. Lou P. Doherty was elected secretary-treasurer. The sum of $43,000 was set up in the budget as a grant to Dr. E. R. Doll of the Department of Animal Pathology of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, to continue his studies into equine virus abortion. An additional sum of $12,000 was set aside provisionally to provide an assistant to Dr. Doll and a technician. Dr. Esle Asbury of Cincinnati stressed the importance of research in equine virus abortion in connection with studies being made in human medicine and suggested the possibility of securing funds from the Federal National Institute of Health. Those attending the meeting included William duPont, Jr., Edward L. Kilroe, F. S. von Stade, Gordon Grayson, Clarkson Beard, Lou P. Doherty, Carleton Burke, Alex Bower, Dr. John McLeod, Mrs. G. P. Greenhalgh, Mrs. George Proskauer, E. B. Benjamin, Bryan Field, Dr. Arthur Davidson, Nelson L. Asiel, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Dr. Esle Asbury, Robert Green, Alex Mackay-Smith, Dr. William O. Reed and as a special guest, Dr. George Forbes of Epsom, England.

GIRLS ON BRITISH TRACKS

Trainers are finding it increasingly difficult to get and retain lads to ride exercise work and do stable duties. Apprentice jockeys they can get - not one in a hundred of whom ever become jockeys - but as soon as they have completed their indentured time they leave for other work where pay is better and every weekend is free. A few - very few - who really love horses and riding stay on as stable lads.

The result is that trainer's hands are being forced and that they are employing more and more girls in stables, to ride gallops, and to take horses away to fulfill their racing engagements.

In view of this Wetherby race executives who are adding about 50 new boxes to their excellent range of stabling on their course, are also including special quarters exclusively for girl grooms. It may soon be that such provision will have to be made at all racecourse stables.

A few years ago, when the Jockey Club had to consider a number of applications for jockey's licenses from accomplished girl riders one of several reasons why these could not be granted was that most jockeys' dressing-rooms are too small, so that division is impossible, and the expense of providing separate accommodation for the few girl jockeys who would be licensed, was not practical politics.

It was argued that lots of owners and trainers would be glad to put girl jockeys, especially on two-year-olds, which require good hands and sympathetic treatment. It is generally admitted that girls have better hands than most 'mutton-fisted' little lads, who hang on by the reins.

The Jockey Club, however, were quite unanimous that neither trainers nor jockeys' licenses should be granted to the sex feminine, no matter how great their experience, ability, or keenness.

It may be that the compliments jockeys sometimes pay each other at the start and when a race is over, are not quite suitable for the ears of girls. It may be too, that stewards would find enquiries into suspicious riding in races a bit embarrassing with the sex feminine involved, and that the licensing of girls to ride in races seems a bit too dynamic a step. But the Turf has changed and more and more ladies now take a prominent part both as owners and 'behind the scenes'. J. F-B.

$1,095 PER SECOND

The winner of the Pimlico Futurity, world's second richest race, will earn $1,095 for every second he works. That's based on an estimated running time of one minute, 45 seconds and a probable net purse of $115,000.

TWO DARK DAYS

The year 1958 will probably be remembered for various things like a recession! Bold Ruler's accepting the weights assigned to him and running at his home tracks without sneaking all over the country looking for pushover opposition and big purses, and Tim Tam's near miss for the Triple Crown. There is something else it ought to be remembered for too. 1958 was the first time there was a dark day in New York racing in many years. As a matter of fact, there will be two dark days before the year is over. There were lots of them when Governor Hughes shut down New York racing in 1911 and 1912 and a couple of years back a day was hurricaned out at Aqueduct. But, as to days of just no racing, New York doesn't go in for that.

This year, however, the move to Saratoga was made in the middle of the week (probably to get back to the metropolitan area for the Labor Day week end) which meant July 30 was moving day and there was no racing in New York. The New York Racing Association had another dark one when racing ended at Saratoga on August 27 and resumed at Belmont on August 29 so all the personnel and stuff which makes running a race meeting possible could be moved back. That will just extend the season that much farther into the fall. Brrrrrrr. R. J. Clark

NEW JERSEY

N. J. BREEDERS SHOW

The Helis Stock Farm, of Jobstown, N. J., retired the Annette T. Haskell Memorial Trophy for broodmares at the annual show of breeding stock sponsored by the Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association of N. J. on August 22nd. Mr. and Mrs. Sydney W. Glass, of Grange Farm, West Chester, Pa., judged the three classes. Greek Colleen (*Rounders-Arisbi, by *Bull Dog), and thus a half-sister to Spartan Valor, was the winning broodmare. She had won the class on two previous occasions. The class for Jersey-bred foals for the Bernadotte Farm Trophy was won by Mrs. Robert Burrows' bay colt by Black Star out of Geramode and the class for Jersey-bred yearlings for the Thomas S. Field Memorial Trophy was taken by Mrs. H. Nelson Slater, Jr., of Far Hills, Joint-Master of the Essex Foxhounds, with her dark grey filly by Wait A Bit out of Flaring Skirt, by Grey Flares.

RECENT IMPORTS TO NEW JERSEY FARMS

Several Irish-breds have been imported within recent days and range in age from yearling to four-year-old.

Youngest of the group is a yearling colt by Tudor Minstrel out of Piping By, by *Piping Rock, bred by Mr. and Mrs. Milton Erlanger of Woodside Stable, Oakhurst. Named *Haut Bois, the yearling and the two-year-old filly *Street Song, by Le-Lavendu out of Theme Song, by Star Dust will join Woodside's racing stable next season. Charles L. Sabatini of Chasmar Stud Farm, Spring Lake, imported the Mossborough filly *Nu Hai out of Gail Linda, by Coup de Lyon in Mid-August. This well-bred individual is booked in the 1959 season to *Babylonian, the imported son of Prince Chevalier who stands at Chasmar Farm.

N. J. HORSEMEN BUY AT SARATOGA SALES

New Jersey Thoroughbred breeders and owners of race horses spent over $193,000 for ten well-bred yearlings at the Saratoga Sales.

Leading the list of buyers was William G. Helis, Jr. of the Helis Stock Farm, Jobstown, who bought three colts and two fillies. One colt is by Spartan Valor out of Lady Eadie, by Hygro. Another colt was a chestnut by Battlefield out of the *Mahmoud mare Bunoora, bred by Robert McLean. The third is a bay by Helioscope-Bellesoeur, by *Beau Pere, consigned by North Cliff Farm. This colt is a half-brother to Jabneh. One filly, bred by Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh, is by Hasty Road out of Karakel, by Psychic Bid. The other is a chestnut by Native Dancer out of *Resurgam, by The Phoenix.

Eugene Mori of East Acres Farm, Vineland, bought two colts at the vendue. One is a dark bay by Revoked out of *Merevale, by *Watling Street. The other is a brown by Royal Coinage out of Sweep In, by *Blenheim II.

RACE MEET AT FAR HILLS

The Essex Fox Hounds Race Meeting will stage its thirty-eighth running at Mr. & Mrs. E. H. Ellis' Dhu Varren Farm, Far Hills, on Saturday afternoon, September 20.

NEW STUDS AT RUFF ACRES FARM

Ruff Acres Farm, now approaching its first anniversary, has completed arrangements for its third phase of Thoroughbred activity: a breeding program. First to be established at the Colt's Neck farm was a broodmare barn, followed shortly by a 22-stall training barn and next a 5-furlong track. Now three stallions have been acquired for stud service and a separate barn is under construction to provide their court.

Stratmat, the 4-year-old son of Loch-invar-Elsewhere, by *Alibhai was the first horse selected by brothers Arthur and Joseph Ruffalo for breeding purposes. The Ruffalos share a partnership with Modan Stable in the breeding qualities of this horse who won, among other victories, the 1957 renewal of the Lamplighter (first division) at Monmouth Park.

A handsome liver chestnut named *Golden Chariot, an imported son of Hyperion out of Safe Conduct II, by Fairway, is owned by a syndicate and will stand the coming season at Ruff Acres.

The most recent acquisition at the farm is the horse *Roi Star, by Arctic Star out of Roisin, by Rosewell. Also to be syndicated, *Roi Star raced in England before his importation and won, among other events, the 2,000 Guineas.

Farm Manager at Ruff Acres Farm is Jack Dougherty, at one time associated in a similar capacity with Olen D. Capps at Nanolen Farm in Collegeville, Pa.

HUNTING

The Spahis on Review

Don Henderson

I drove the war weary staff car down the steep hill into the picturesque little Rhineland town of Lagenschwalbach. The usual vista of a long stretch of brilliant green sward framed by stately linden trees was changed.

This day, as far as the eye could see to the left there were line after line of white robed men mounted on their pert little Arab horses. Save for the impatient nods of little heads, they might have been so many statues.

Now came a small party of French cavalry officers approaching. I recognized General Blaque Belair, one of the most colorful of them all. This was the Spahis on review.

This was the way I came to be there. My nose, or intuition let's call it, for locating things potable has often reacted unfavorably to my well being. There have been unpleasant repercussions. And again some successful forays have been most rewarding. C'est la vie.

I had located a cache of excellent old

Scotch at this little hotel beside me. Neither the Germans, nor the French, British or our Americans had found it. It was of that vintage when Mr. Mackay tied a sprig of heather to each neck, if some of you remember that far back.

Mine host here was glad to enter into a conspiracy. The Rhinelanders love that sort of thing. Mum would be the word. When my private stock would become depleted, a trip to inspect my M.P.'s at Wiesbaden would offer itself fortuitously. This was one of those occasions.

So the brakes were released and the car coasted down to the better viewing of the Review.

The General spied me, as it was my hope he would. John Downer and this scribe were teaching a detail of the young French officers to play polo. The General often visited with us. My strategy for recognition had worked.

In no time I was astride one of those treats of the French cavalry, a Saumur trained demi-sang. The aide who relinquished him to me was most gracious.

Slowly we passed up and down each line. Never an eye moved. Only those little heads nodding a greeting, looking out from eyes almost veiled by the long foretops. And everything was white, save for the swarthy faces looking out from their robes and head gears. The alignment was remarkable by any standards.

As we rode back to the reviewing stand, the General asked my opinion of his regiment. My vocabulary would only go as far as "Magnifique mon General". Sort of skimpy, but he seemed quite pleased. It was the best I could do anyhow.

Now the French Colonel left us and took his position at the head of his regiment. Commands rapped out, echoing back from side to side of this valley.

The Spahis moved out, wheeling in perfect unity. At a walk, then a trot, a controlled gallop. Each line passed us in perfect alignment and maintaining an exactness of distance that was to be marvelled at. It was plain that not a man had any difficulty handling his mount, though they were eager to go.

Now, as they came to the further end of the ground on which they were manoeuvring, they wheeled and came on at a mad charge, a furious example of what such an impact would be to any enemy fighting on the ground, whether from horses or afoot. Still that same symmetry was maintained. The same relative distances held. With that same seeming ease of control. Amazing, and so impressively speaking for the Arab disposition, horse-wise!

As if to further show their military perfection, each line, without apparent easing of pace, came back to their front-into-line position, exactly where each had stood. Halting abruptly as if they enjoyed doing it, no fighting the bit at all.

The Colonel now presented his military respects. Another command, repeated up and down the lines. Every head was let loose, reins thrown away. The little fellows reached out their heads, but not a

THE ARAB LEGION

Virginia Foxhound Club Show

George Cole Scott

The Orange County and Potomac Hunts shared top honors at the Virginia Foxhound Club Show at Montpelier. The Masters of Foxhounds Challenge Cup for the best five couple of hounds was won by Orange County while Potomac Tweet-Tweet '56 won the American Foxhound Club Challenge Cup for the best hound in the show. The American Foxhound Club trophy was first placed in competition in 1939 and this was the first year it was not won by the Orange County Hunt.

It was interesting to note that Potomac Tweet-Tweet '56 was by Middleburg Dexter '52 out of Potomac Tricksey '53. Dexter '52 was sired by that well known stallion hound Essex Rowdy '47. Tricksey '53 was by Orange County Marker '48 who was twice the Champion American Foxhound at the Bryn Mawr show.

In the dog hound division the Orange County Hunt was clearly outstanding. Their unentered Memphis won his division with two of the get of Oxford '54 taking second and third ribbons. Among the entered hounds Orange County Bagman '56 won the entered hound class, the stallion hound class and the champion dog hound. This same hound won the Championship of the Virginia show in 1956 when he was unentered. Potomac Tony '53, also by Orange County Marker '48, was second to Bagman '56 both as an entered hound and a stallion hound.

In the bitch division the Potomac Hunt did better. Their Truly won the unentered class and, of course, their Tweet-Tweet '56 won the entered class as well as the best brood bitch. In recent years it has seemed that the Potomac bitches have been more outstanding than their dog hounds with the exception of Tony '53 who has certainly made a name for himself.

This year the Virginia Foxhound Club featured some new classes for packs which had reported less than twenty couple of entered hounds in kennel the previous season. These proved quite popular and the ribbons were well divided. The Fairfax Hunt won the largest number of points with a first and second in the entered dog division and a first in the entered bitch division. Blue Ridge Hunt was a close second with two winners in the unentered dog division. Ribbons were also won by Keswick and Rappahannock.

Altogether nine packs were represented at this show, all of them from Virginia except the Potomac Hunt. A total of 193 hounds were entered in the twenty classes which was not as many as the previous year, when Essex Foxhounds brought a large entry and several other Northern packs were included. However, classes were well filled and several had more than fifteen hounds to be judged.

As usual the show was held in the beautiful walnut glen at "Montpelier", the home of Mrs. Marion duPont Scott. At the noon break all exhibitors were served a buffet lunch near the show grounds by Mrs. Scott and afterwards she gave a cocktail party in the big house. It is this unusually lovely setting that makes a day at the Virginia Foxhound Club Show a very pleasant memory.

Middlebury Hunter Pace Event

C. W. Kellogg

A record entry of 22 teams took part in the third annual Hunter Pace and companion events staged by the Middlebury (Conn.) Hunt Club on Labor Day. The "day in the country" program traditionally opens the MHC's season.

Held under clear skies in cool, dry weather, the hunter pace saw the team of James Abrams, Joint M.F.H. of the Litchfield County Hounds, and Paul Seiser travel the 8 1/2-mile, 18-jumps course in 59 minutes to win the Masters' Challenge Trophy donated by Dr. and Mrs. Richard T. Gilyard and Bert E. Bowen, Joint-MFHs of the Middlebury.

Judging, by Frank Hawkins and Frank Johnson, entered into the picture. The team of Steve Lengel of New Haven and Cynthia Michaels of Woodbridge also covered the distance in 59 minutes, but the judges ruled the Abrams-Seiser horses were in better condition at the finish.

This year's event reverted to the plan of the inaugural in 1956 whereby placings were made against the average time of the competing teams, with finishing times 10 minutes or more away from the average being discounted. The fastest time record was a shade under 53 minutes and one laggard team reported in 79 minutes after their start, but more than half the field was within five minutes of the average overall.

Third in the senior division was the combination of Althea Clarkson and Nell Skipp, both of Greenwich, with a finishing time of 58 minutes. Fourth went to the team of Kathy O'Connell and Mrs. E. C. (Pat) Bowen of Middlebury in 62 minutes. These also survived condition judging since the team of George Villa of Woodbury and S. Napier Smith of New Haven also finished in 62 minutes.

Junior Division

The junior division was captured by Barbara Chisholm and Mary Stollenwerck of Greenwich. They covered the same course ridden by the seniors in 66 minutes. In second place were Peter Howe and Cynthia Korn of Litchfield - curiously Howe won the Masters' Trophy two years ago in company with Susan White of Darien who was unplaced this year. Third was won by Lorraine Fox of Middlebury and Patty Dunn of New Haven and fourth went to John and Richard Villa of Woodbury.

This year the committee, headed by the Middlebury Masters and co-chairman Fred Sills, added a separate competition for suitable hunters. Upon completion of the regular course, entries were sent individually over an additional mile course with six jumps with way of going being the prime consideration. This went to the entry of Mrs. Richard Hunt of Greenwich, second to Mrs. Gilyard's Passport, third to Si Newhouse's grey gelding and fourth to the entry of Hank Minchin of Greenwich.

Following a chicken barbecue in the Sills grove at which announcements of the winners were made and trophies and ribbons presented, hounds from Middlebury, Litchfield and Goldens Bridge packs raced over a four-mile course. Dr. Gilyard announced the establishment of the "Prowler Trophy", a handsome silver cup presented by the Middlebury Masters in honor of one of the Middlebury pack's senior hounds who is being retired this season after continuous and noble service dating back to 1948. The race was won by Litchfield's Reddy, second place going to Plunder from the Goldens Bridge kennels. Third and fourth places were taken by Litchfield entries.

one moved one step. Nor did the riders move round. Rather just relaxed in their saddles.

General Blaque Belair relieved me of the necessity of juggling round words. He spoke in English, his command of it far better than mine of his tongue. Trying to voice my admiration in fitting words and with thanks to the aide who had loaned me his well mannered mount, I took my leave, heading for Wiesbaden.

Yes, mon vieux, you are wondering about the Scotch! This was no occasion for it. On my return next day would be soon enough.

Now my mood was for beauty, after this display. And I knew where to find her, at the Four Seasons Hotel. We would quaff toasts in Roderer's Rheims Champagne, with the black label. Toasts to "The Spahis on Review".

Warrenton

Just as each year the first backyard show heralds the coming of spring, the Warrenton Horse Show calls to a close the summer. The Labor Day weekend event is the finish of the big Virginia circuit and although many of the stables will go on showing up north or at the few remaining Virginia shows, they will first have to shake the moth balls from summer-stored horse blankets, dig out the old hot water heater, and prepare for the perpetually cold noses.

While the Warrenton show is going on, it is still summer and this year those happy months went out in a blaze of glory as temperatures sailed to 90 degrees. But the rains abated and the nights were cool, so that showing was very pleasant in spite of the days' heat. Even the horses seemed to sense the promise of colt in the air and quite a few were seen to try out a couple of anticipatory winter bucks. Their performances seemed to hold more brilliance than usual and the judges were faced with many a tough decision. In the end, however, the old campaigners usually won out, and the list of champions included such well-known performers as Peggy Augustus' Waiting Home, Shawnee Farm's Journey Proud, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skipper's Rusty.

The entries of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Motch dominated the ranks of the young horses, with the newly-acquired Windsweep taking the Green Working Hunter title and the good-looking Garden of Eden coming out on top of the Green Conformation Hunters. Garden of Eden was also the happy winner of the coveted Alex Calvert Perpetual Memorial Trophy.

"The Great New Horse Show in the East"

There is no longer any regular pony division at Warrenton, but one of the highlights was a driving class for children. The event boasted nearly a dozen entries and was a delight to watch as both children and ponies were pictures of pride and perfection. The proudest of all was the eventual winner, Jiminey Cricket, who is owned by Lee R. Greenaway. T. B.

Waynesville

The general setting and layout of the Haywood County Recreation Center located within the city limits of Waynesville, N.C., proved to be a most ideal place to hold a horse show.

The highlight of the show was the presentation of the Lloyd Mansion Tate Memorial Challenge Trophy to the working hunter champion in recognition of the wonderful work done in the horse show world by the late Mr. Tate. It was stated by one show official that Mr. Tate has possibly done more to promote good horse shows, riding to hounds, and interest among young people as riders, than any other one person throughout this section. Mrs. Lloyd Tate, with members of her family, made the presentation to Battle Torch, owned by Richard Hull. W.W.M.

Bath County

The chameleon-like weather and the soft, slippery track did not pale the color, excitement and camaraderie of the 30th Annual Bath County Horse and Pony Show held at The Homestead's horse show grounds at Hot Springs, Virginia. Over 200 horses from 15 states and the District of Columbia and 1000 entries made the anniversary show the biggest and best in its long and honored history. The scattered showers on Thursday and Friday made the going rough on those days, but Saturday's show was blessed with bright sunshine most of the day, and the ground in the ring, having been raked and smoothed provided more sure footing for the horses.

After leading the conformation hunter class for two days, Duke of Paconian owned by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pettibone was blasted out of first place by Black Atom, belonging to Mrs. A. C. Randolph, who came up from the ranks on the last day to lead and win the coveted Conformation Hunter Championship.

Open Jumper Championship went to Rainbow, owned and ridden by Wally Holly. Mr. New Hope, Thomas E. Jones, Jr., and the Ormond Biltmore Stables' Biltmore's Pride matched for the reserve honors, with the title going to Mr. New Hope. Holly also won this challenge trophy presented by the Bath County Horse Show Association and given out by Mrs. T. Kenneth Ellis, President of the BCHSA, last year with Hailstorm.

Also on her second victory in that many years is Sara Nan Payne, whose Marianna was again the Junior Hunter Champion.

Naute Mia, owned by Saxon Woods Farm and ridden by Gordon Wright, took the Working Hunter Championship from Skipper's Fate, Shawnee Farm.

The D. R. Motch's Garden of Eden nosed out Ace of Diamonds (George W. Clarkson) in a close scramble for the Green Conformation Hunter championship.

Green Working Hunter honors and the Mrs. T. Kenneth Ellis challenge trophy went to Blue Monday, owned by Mr. & Mrs. Robert C. Egan.

Small Pony Championship went to Mountain Glen Farm's Storm Peak with reserve honors to Johnny Cake, Waverly Farm. Storm Peak was also the Grand Champion Pony of the show and took home the Waverly Farms Challenge Trophy. J. B.

Crailsheim Riding Club

Dr. H. J. Gronow

The Riding Club of Crailsheim was founded at a time when general economic conditions were still unfavourable in Germany. Crailsheim and its surrounding area are poor in industrial undertakings, and because of the relatively raw climate, the farms are small and the utilization of horses is profitable on only a few of the larger farms.

In spite of these conditions, the Riding Club stepped into public favor in the first year of its existence. At the yearly Volksfest, which takes place at Crailsheim city in September, horse races were held with several farmers' horses from the neighborhood. Even though many riders fell off during the race, because of lack of practice, the public was very pleased with the presentation. The almost completely unknown Riding Club not only found immediate popularity, but this so-called "Volksfest-Race" became a permanent feature of the annual fair that takes place in Crailsheim.

task was completed. From donations of money and material from private persons and officials the construction of the building was started and finished, 65 by 135 ft. was the size of the hall.

In order to cheapen as much as possible the keeping of riding horses, the Club last year leased a farm of about 40 acres on which the horses are stabled and also used for farm work.

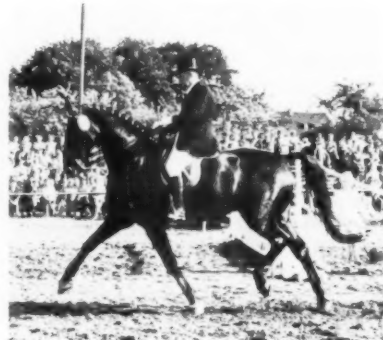

Foals are intended to be raised here and after reaching the necessary age to be used as riding horses. A riding stable is to be built near the Riding Hall.

Although in 1952 scarcely 30 horses in Crailsheim participated in the tournament, this year about 250 entries were submitted, with stalls available for only about 2/3. This great number of participating horses could not have been taken care of unless Colonel Yow had helped with tents of the US Forces for use as stables.

It is understandable that the slowly, but steadily growing number of partici-

FRANKEN HOHENLOHE RIDING AND JUMPING TOURNAMENT

In addition to Horse racing and games, simple training shows and jumping events were presented. These pleased the spectators to such a degree that an official tournament was attempted for the first time in May 1952 under the name of "The Franken-Hohenlohe Riding and Jumping Tournament". This tournament, under the direction of Baron von Waldenfels, was so well prepared that, in spite of rainy weather, about 4000 spectators came and rewarded the courage of the Club. Thanks to the financial success which resulted from the Volksfest and the tournaments, the Riding Club could think about its own needs. Because of the raw and unfavourable climate the building of a Riding Hall was especially necessary. In 1955 the City of Crailsheim gave the Riding Club a very beautiful plot of land on the outskirts of the city for their own use. For the construction of the Riding Hall a very large amount of soil had to be removed. This was done only through the help of the American Army. Through the use of a bulldozer from the US Forces this gigantic pants is closely connected with the enlarging of the Tournament program. Of the total of 15 tests only 4 were Class M training and jumping contests.

Smithtown

Harry De Leyer who has had such remarkable success with his "$80 plow-horse" Snowman in this year's open jumper events had to sit out the Smithtown horse show because of illness. However, Dave Kelley took over for him and not only was Snowman champion, but two DeLeyer entries, Night Arrest and Wayward Wind, finished directly behind him pointwise.

Mrs. Arthur Hawkins had the first time thrill of winning every class in which the Duffy Stables' Tourist Encore performed. It gave the chestnut gelding a commanding point lead over the reserve hunter Miss Kathy Norden's owner-ridden Crutchfield.

Kathy's sister, Patricia, suffered a badly broken nose while schooling; Nancy Rice took over the riding of her green mare, Brilliant Lass, and won both the stake and the championship after a hack off with Ralph Petersen's Gangster, ridden by Miss Althea Knickerbocker. Tanbark.

Greenbush

The Third Annual East Greenbush Junior Chamber of Commerce Horse Show for the benefit of the Community Service Fund went off without too many hitches. The only casualty was Harold Smith who sprained his ankle. Nevertheless this was done out by his trailer and not while he was riding. Russ Stewart rode for him the rest of Saturday. Top Gallant, owned by My Play Stables, and top jumper of the show was ridden by Shirley Weinstein.

In the Hunter division the champion was Omachic, owned and ridden by Mrs. John Gottschalk. One of her wins was the East Greenbush Challenge Trophy which she retains this year since it is her third consecutive win. Reserve to her was Russell Stewart with Miss Fiddes. Exhibitor

Hamburg Jumping Derby

Reiner Schlosser

As usual the highlight of the Hamburg (Germany) Show was the Derby on Sunday, the last day of the show with 61 entries. This formidable 1350-meter-course is, as far as I know, the longest jumping course in the world today and includes 23 jumps. It has remained practically unchanged since the first Jumping Derby in 1920 and was held this year for the 30th time. The course is a very tough one, requiring quite a bit of stamina from the horses. It has often happened that experienced horses were too exhausted towards the end of the course, thus slipping at obviously not particularly difficult obstacles. Also the obstacles, though natural jumps as they occur in a typical holsatian hunting country, often prove irritating to Thiedemann's Finale, who did the second clear round. Later the d'Inzeo brothers' Quiet Man and His Excellency both collected 4 faults. Rather towards the end the second spectacular clear round was done by Herr Thiedemann's Meteor, who had won the Derby in '57 (clear round No. 17 in the Derby history). For the jump-off 7 obstacles were raised. According to the starting order, the Russian had to go first. He rode very carefully and concentrated and again was clear with 64.8 sec. Next to come was Herr Thiedemann's Finale, who put on speed and also went clear, beating the Russian as she had only 57.1 sec. Meteor also had quite a good time (60.3 sec.) but unfortunately brought the oxer down, thus finishing third.

This was the 4th time that Herr Thiedemann has won this much-coveted trophy. He has thus beaten Olympic gold-medal winner Freiherr von Langen's record, who for a long time was the only rider to win the Derby 3 times. So far the trophy has only twice gone abroad,

In the conformation division, Hillary Farm's Nymphodon, ridden by Barbara Bemis, was champion.

The Leon C. Warner family had two reserve champions in the Woodhill show. Ronald Mandite was named in the working hunter division and Blaze Trail in the conformation division.

Top open jumper was Windy Day, ridden by Lollie Benz, with Mrs. Harry McNeely Jr.'s Jesse James reserve.

The Woodhill Horse Show was part of a double celebration this year. It was an official Minnesota Centennial event, as well as a feature of the annual Minneapolis Aquatennial, an area summer festival.

the horses, notably the Pulvermann's Grave, the unique "Derby Bank" and the "Holsteiner Wegesprung". So far only 15 out of well over a thousand starters in the history of the Derby have had clear rounds.

This year the big surprise came within the first five minutes of the event, when the Russian Schaballo with his nine-year-old brown stallion Boston went clear, doing the 16th clear round in Derby history. It looked as if the 26 year-old Russian infantry NCO would carry it off as none of the 26 starters in the first section managed another clear round. Even experienced showjumpers like The Rock, Herr Winkler's Fahnenjunker, Peter Stackfleth's Frechdachs, Luetge-Westhues' Flagrant collected 4 faults, Herr Thiedemann's Godewind even 12.

In the second section first the favourite Halla came out with 8 faults and later Frau Koehler's Armalva with 4. 16th horse of the second section was Herr

Woodhill

The 33rd annual Woodhill Horse Show drew a record number of exhibitors to its tree-circled ring at Wayzata, Minn., on July 25, 26 and 27. Audience attendance dropped somewhat on the show's final day because of rain in the early morning, but by the time championship points were totalled, sunshine again streamed down.

The Lyman E. Wakefield, Jr. family came off with two winners. Anne Wakefield, riding Red Bird, won the working hunter championship and Louise Wakefield's Melita was reserve champion in the green hunter division.

Press Comment On Horse Shows

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following appeared as the lead editorial in the Utica Daily Press, a member of the Gannett group of newspapers, on August 5, 1958.)

Much To Be Said For Horse Shows

Devotees of fast speed boats or hot-rod cars probably cannot see much point in a horse show. But this combination of exhibits and contests has its roots well back in American folkways. It deserves attention, therefore, as a significant item from our historic background and besides that, it affords a fine diversion for the uninitiated. It is different enough from the usual run of mechanical thrills, to interest anyone who admires the products of skill and training.

All this was brought out at the first annual show of the Barneveld Horsemen's Association the other day. It was given for the benefit of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children, a worthy purpose that eliminated any flavor of commercialism. Anyone who watched the affair long enough, however, would need little argument to persuade him that the participants in horse shows aren't seeking pecuniary benefits. A competitor may truck his entry for miles, wait quite awhile for his class to be shown and then enjoy perhaps a couple minutes of actual competition for himself and his mount. If this isn't sport for sport's sake it certainly is a convincing facsimile.

The significant difference between a horse show and many other popular contests or exhibitions is that this one is a joint effort between two animals—one human and the other equine. This is no case where a nervy driver uses the throttle to find out whether his engine can outdo its rivals. After all, mechanical power and design are the main factors for success in that kind of competition.

But that sort of handling will get nothing for a horse show performer. Being an animal of spirit and strength, a horse has to be handled with knowledge and consideration. A rider who spurred his horse the way some drivers ride a throttle, might suddenly find himself on the other side of the fence, wondering what happened. In other words, the rider has to make the most of his companion's abilities and if they are properly brought out, a ribbon may result. It is an excellent example of mutual understanding and respect, in which the horses often show as much ability as is expected of their human counterparts.

Saddles For Children

Adele Rockwell

This is about saddles for young riders. Opinions may differ, but it seems to me not nearly enough thought or attention is given to saddles that the young ride.

The other day while I was judging equitation at a Junior Show three things about saddles came up independently. One small rider of considerable ability was mounted on a grand little mare, still a trifle large for him, but which he should grow into soon. The forward seat saddle was much too large for him with the result that his knees could not fit properly on the saddle; in effect he was riding the saddle not the horse. The child so impressed me that I spoke to his father about the saddle and learnt that they had tried no fewer than ten saddles and finally bought this one from another young rider. Here was a parent that was trying to do right by the child, but the necessity of having a forward seat saddle, regardless of fit, would seem to be much over rated.

Another old time horseman, in no way connected with the participants and whose opinion I have always valued if not always solicited, made the observation that all children placed in Equitation were riding forward seat saddles. His implication was that we, the judges, were not considering children riding in English saddles.

A third party questioned our adherence to the Rule Book by placing children with forward seat saddles. The Rule Book does not, however, say that forward seat saddles are debarred from use in equitation classes, although it makes it clear that such a saddle is not desirable.

In Equitation Classes

As far as placing the children with forward seat saddles, we felt we had no choice, for these were the best riders and furthermore at least 3/4 of the children had forward seat saddles. It is true that such a saddle more or less forces the child into the correct position, but it does not make them better horsemen by so doing.

It seems to me that we are faced with a dilemma. I do not feel myself that I am going to put a child down in an Equitation class if he is riding an English saddle as long as he rides as well as others who may have forward seat saddles. But I will admit that a good rider riding a forward seat saddle that fits him may give a better impression. In such cases I like the riders to change horses. Often having done this I find the child that entered on an English saddle, when changed to a forward seat saddle will defeat his competition, not because he may ride any better in the forward seat saddle, but because the child removed from the forward seat saddle and put on an English saddle will be quite lost, and faults not apparent when riding his own saddle will show up. Until the Rule Book flatly bars the use of a forward seat saddle I shall consider participants equally no matter what kind of saddle they are using. For the Rule Book to flatly state that forward seat saddles are barred would be wrong, for then it would favour those children who could afford both kinds of saddles. A great many children own but one saddle and this is a forward seat one.

Proper Fit

It is extremely difficult and uncomfortable to try and ride properly in a saddle that does not fit. Parents should remember that the choice of a saddle should be more than trying to stay in style with the times, and that forward seat saddles are not generally made for children. It is extremely difficult to acquire a forward seat saddle built to child dimensions. Even having found one does not make it a good saddle, for different makes vary and all are not properly balanced.

A few years ago one parent I knew located a very neat child's forward seat saddle for his 10-year-old daughter. It looked like a dandy saddle. The little girl, who had been riding very nicely, used this saddle for several years, but went back steadily in her riding to the point where she was riding badly, had little control over her horse and became very timid. It was thought that either the child or her instructors must have been responsible. I had occasion to ride her horse one day and found it to be a horrible little saddle with the placement of the bars all wrong for either comfort or efficiency. Few adults are small enough to be able to ride a child's saddle and make such a discovery. Naturally a child cannot be expected to know or be believed if the saddle is wrong.

Apart from small children I suspect that many young teenagers and women riders are riding in saddles too large for them. Being small myself I am far more conscious of this than is the average adult. There is this, too, to consider. The popularity of the forward seat saddle is comparatively new. Most current parents and instructors, if they rode as children, did not ride a forward seat saddle. The build of a forward seat saddle is such that it must fit the rider. While the English saddle, although built in different sizes also, can afford greater comfort and efficiency without having the exact fit required of a forward seat one.

In the interests of all young riders I urge parents to give most careful thought to the selection of saddles for their children. A good or a bad saddle can be a greater influence on the child and his future as a horseman than many people realize.

Immediate organization plans were put into effect for training the instructors and to establish closer cooperation between the two Atlanta Chapters of the Pony Club. This plan included securing the able assistance of Mrs. Cynthia Schell, well known in Pony Club circles, to teach the Atlanta Pony Club instructors in the proper methods during a two hour period held once each month.

without reins or stirrups. We encouraged everyone to try this in preparation for our next mounted rally. As it turned out the following month at our rally, we spent all morning judging 11 teams. One member rode, one handled longe and horse, then they changed. They were judged on their ability to handle longe rope and horse and to perform the exercises.

We had a wonderful day as guests of the Millbrook Pony Club. Our host tallied up the most points for their club but we had the individual rider with the most points. This inter-club rally was so successful that in the future we will do it more often with nearby clubs.

One of our early meetings proved very beneficial and lots of fun. Mr. Beach, equipped with horse and longe, gave a lesson on how to ride on the longe. The principal summer's project was the organization of our Invitation Rally. Sixty-six Pony Clubbers from most of the adjacent Pony Clubs materialized out of the ectoplasm for a full day's competition ably judged by Col. and Mrs. Howard C. Fair.

The principal lesson to the committee came from the opportunity to observe the wide variation in classifications of children from the various Pony Clubs. For instance, a "C" in one Pony Club would be classified as "D" in another, and this meant that we had to divide every event at the discretion of the judges rather than on the basis of the children's Pony Club rating. We felt, however, that our In-itation Rally contributed fun and useful experience to the children and it is our intention to repeat the rally next year.

The Litchfield County Hounds organized a Junior Hunt for members of the Pony Club. Hounds have been out six times to date this year for the Pony Club with only a limited number of adults tolerated. As a result, fox hunting has become a source of pleasure to 17 of our Litchfield Pony Club members.

Columbia Junior

Hunters and jumpers dominated the Columbia Junior Horse Show when 60 youngsters competed for points toward the annual championship awards of the Central Pennsylvania Junior Horse Shows Association.

There were twenty hunters in the class for hunters over the outside course, won by Derbydown Stables' Diana Major, ridden by Betsy Bailey, with stablemate Redwood, Beverly Ritter in the saddle, placing second. Later in the show Bev, on Redwood, was one of five riders to have a clear ride in the eight-jump knockdown and out, and when halfway around the course, she dislocated her right thumb. She not only completed the trip without a knockdown, but continued riding in the show until the conclusion. Eventual winner of the knockdown and out was Sally Dohner's Ratcliff, ridden by Sandy Shelley, who made another clear round on the first jumpoff, as did Barbara Bause, riding Bill Zimmerly's Wildfire. The two girls tired again, and both dumped the first barrier. On the third jumpoff Wildfire once more knocked down the first jump, and all Sandy had to do was to take one jump to win the blue. She took two, just for good measure.

Jeannie Mosser was the only rider in the hunter divisions to win two blues with the same mount. Her famous little skewbald pony, Toby, was first in working hunter ponies under 13 hands, and in the event for hunter pony hacks under 13. M. L. S.

Early A.M.

The Committee arrived at the Rice Estate, Hamilton, Mass., to help get everything organized. Then cars, trailers, and horses came through the entrance gate.

Parents Class

Parents arrived at the in gate, not knowing what was in store for them. They were made to jump a fence, run to and crawl through a tire (which, not to their knowledge, was full of water), mount their steeds (which were supplied for them, consisting of old stable brooms), gallop in and out of bending stakes, and jump the ditch - brooms and all.

Mr. Nathaniel T. Clark, our Regional Pony Club Supervisor, won the blue ribbon in the father's division hands down (of course we don't mention the fact that he fell flat on his nose at the ditch).

Luncheon Break

Drinks and sandwiches, made by the committee, were sold by three of the younger N.S.P.C. members in the little tennis shack. During the lunch period a second-hand riding clothes sale was held on the tennis court. Lovely coats, breeches, boots, whips, etc., were for sale at very low prices.

End of the Day

The end of the day was brought around by a special exhibition put on by the N.S.P.C. Jumping-Drill Team.

A wonderful time was had by all and everyone went home with at least a ribbon (some with even as many as ten) or some new riding clothes.

A profit of three hundred and seventy-five dollars was taken in by the North Shore Pony Club.

Lancaster Junior

Betsy Bailey, riding Derbydown Stables' Diana Major, was one of the top ribbon collectors at the Lancaster Junior Horse Show, on the Central Pennsylvania Junior Horse Show Association circuit.

The hunter horsemanship crown fell to Andy Kreider, aboard Corsican Rose.

Another double winner was Jeannie Mosser, who captured two firsts with her beautiful skewbald pony, Toby.

There was good competition in the jumper division, when six horses went clean in the knockdown and out. However, the first jump-off became the Waterloo for most of the half dozen, with St. Nick, of Derbydown, ridden by Susan Worrall,

Buxmont

The fourteenth annual Buxmont Horse Show attracted a good deal of spectators - almost a record crowd for the show's history. This was very much due to the fortunate fair weather. I am sure that all the crowd went home with nice sun tans.

This horse show is a favorite among the summer camps. Two of the camps entered in the show were The Pine Tree Camp from Pocono Pines, Penna., and Miss Violet Haines' Evergreen Farm Day Camp from Gynnedd Valley, Penna.

The good horses came from far and near to try their luck. Among the best was Wissie Mumma's Tarquin Jay, who copped the prize money in the jumper stake. In the hunter division, Playgirl, guided by Miss June Rittase, took the stake class.

All in all, it was a successful show for many people and an exciting show for the spectators.

Moving to a 5-1 half-time lead and holding their rivals scoreless for three periods, the Jericho poloists rode to a 7-5 victory over Meadow Brook at the Meadow Brook Club, Jericho, L. I., on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24.

Frank Rice, riding at No. 2 stroked four goals to pace Jericho's victory. Frank's brother, John, made three goals for Meadow Brook in a match that saw the losers collect four of their goals in the last two chukkers.

C. R. Leonard Jr., Fred Zeller and Roy Moriarty rounded out Jericho's side, with Jerry Shields, Art Nichols and John Gayer completing Meadow Brook's four.

At the Blind Brook Polo Club, Purchase, N. Y., Tommy Glynn scored 45 seconds from the end, just as a heavy cloudburst began, to give the Blind Brook Seniors a 7-6 triumph over the Blind Brook Juniors. George Haas made four of the Seniors' total. John Greenleaf matched that effort for the Juniors.

The Ramblers scored in the first four periods as they downed the Bethpage side, 7 to 6, at Bethpage State Park, L. I. The Ramblers, holding a 5-3 lead at intermission, failed to score in the last two chukkers.

Avon Defeats Ithaca

Mike Kelley

One of the features of Avon's 150th anniversary celebration was a polo match between the Avon team and a team from Ithaca. An annual affair, the two teams consist of men who play polo for a hobby and for the sheer love of the game. They maintain their own ponies, field and equipment; practices are squeezed in after the daily chores. Age-wise these gentlemen are reaching the middle point except for a few young upstarts. Several father and son combinations provided some real teamwork. Robert Greer, the mainstay of the whole project, and son Verne made a formidable pair, as did Robert Davidson and his polo playing offspring, Dick.

Ithaca, a well organized team gave the Avon men some real trouble. The visiting team had some problems too, as one member of the club had not as yet reached his teens. The score indicates how closely matched the teams were and how well the game was played.

A great many of the spectators who had never seen a polo match were amazed at how exciting a game can get. The final score was Avon 9 and Ithaca 8.

Tally Ho Polo

Tally Ho, riding hard to take the lead in its seven-match series with Lancaster Polo Club, suffered its third defeat at Lancaster, Sunday, August 17, by a score of 7-1. This was the fifth game of the series. As the record now stands, Lancaster has 3 wins; Tally Ho 2.

The lone goal for Tally Ho was scored by Kelly Barone, with an expertly maneuvered assist from Bill Gill.

Lancaster's standout, Ben Forney, maced three goals, with his apt teammates, Gil Miller and Junior Turns scoring 2 goals each.

Santa Barbara Polo

Concerning the Santa Barbara Polo Club season, the club finished its most successful season in some 25 years on Aug. 24. It lasted almost two months - the summer season, that is. The winter season was from early January to May and, due to comparative winter chill and much rain, was not too successful. However, the summer season featuring the two national tourneys made up for it.

Club manager Stanley Taylor has announced that the 1958-59 winter season will open about Oct. 15 or early November at the latest. The club plans a five-month summer season next year. Winter polo has been the thing here for many years, but now that it has been discovered that summer polo really pays off with fans, the emphasis will be on summer play from now on. D. P.

THOUGHTS ON

AMERICAN FOX-HUNTING

BY DENISON B. HULL, EX-M.F.H., THE FOX RIVER VALLEY HUNT, NEW YORK, DAVID MCKAY CO., INC., 1958, pp. 191, ILLUS. $5.00.

In his engaging introduction Mr. Hull writes: "I never jumped a fence until I was thirty-five, and never even saw a fox hunt until I found myself hunting my own hounds at the age of forty-three. It happened this way. I became involved in foxhunting because I had taken up drag hunting; I took up drag hunting because I had taken up riding; and I took up riding because I had become very hard of hearing. You see, you simply must take up something when you become hard of hearing, because the worst possible thing you can do is to retire into a corner and mope. Riding looked like fun to me, and I figured that the horse would never talk back. So I tried it."

Mr. Hull then became successively Field Master, Joint-Master and Master of The Longmeadow Hounds, a drag pack hunting near Chicago. When he found that the Longmeadow Hounds would also run foxes, he organized The Fox River Valley Hunt, also near Chicago, with Edgerton Throckmorton in 1940 and remained Master of this organization until subdividing made foxhunting virtually impossible in 1956. Through the kindness of A. Henry Higginson, he acquired a draft of English Hounds to which he added periodically, building up the pack until it reached a standard which won for The Fox River Valley many ribbons at the Bryn Mwr Hounds Show. This book is in effect a record of what Mr. Hull learned from books and from experience in The Fox River Valley country during the time he was Master.

In a most complimentary introduction Mr. Higginson writes: "I feel sure that nothing that has yet been written will be more helpful to American Sportsmen." It would be pleasant to be able to agree wholeheartedly with this opinion. "Thoughts on American Fox-Hunting" does, in fact, contain a great deal of helpful material. The opening chapters about organization, clothes and etiquette constitute a useful introduction. The chapter about horses has been much better done in many other texts. The chapters about hounds, their breeding and training are also informative from an introductory point of view. Undoubtedly the best part of the book is the chapter about kennels and kennel management. The chapter on hunting hounds is limited to Mr. Hull's personal experiences. The book concludes with a good bibliography and some practical suggestions as to drag hunting.

The text is illustrated throughout with delightful sketches from Mr. Hull's pen and with some very excellent photographs. This reviewer was privileged to read Mr. Hull's original manuscript and to make some suggestions as to arrangement. As finally published it is considerably shorter than the original, some of the very best material, particularly the chapter on scent, having been omitted. As far as it goes the book is excellent. But a complete introduction to American Fox Hunting has yet to be written and published. A.M.S.

THREE DAYS RUNNING, SHEILA WILLCOX, COLLINS, LONDON, 15s.

This is the story of how a girl of 21 became champion rider of Europe in virtually record time. Sheila Willcox, who was born near Birmingham in England, tells about herself and her ponies and horses in a charming style, and in a manner, her successes notwithstanding which remains human throughout. One is touched by her understanding parents who never failed to rally to her support, as did all manner of people who came in contact with her.

To talk about Sheila Willcox would be to tell but half the story - for she was able to climb the ladder of success on the back of the now famous dun gelding High and Mighty with the "donkey" markings on his front legs, who is always referred to by his stable name, Chips. She passes lightly over her ability to pick out a horse with such a great potential, which she purchased through a "Horse Wanted" advertisement. She strikes the reader as a very determined young lady who set about her work of preparing Chips for the Horse Trials with a commendable singleness of purpose.

Horse Trials are the most demanding test for horse and rider and it is almost with uncanny regularity that Sheila Willcox and "Chips" move from one success to another: winning the first One-Day Horse Trials entered, the 1954 Pony Club "Associate" Championship, more Trials and on to the European Championship at Turin in Italy, all within 18 months of commencing their partnership. After a score more wins at home came her second European Championship, this time held in Denmark. These trips and the actual events are described with some humour and considerable variety, so much so that they provide an insight which would ordinarily be denied a mere spectator.

"Three Days Running" is not the sort of book which appeals only to the horseman. It makes interesting reading also for the layman who can probably see himself in the role of the author's parent, and, like the latter, not one familiar with horses. To the devotees of Horse Trials, however, there is a noticeable dearth of technical information and one wonders whether possible "trade secrets" were purposely omitted.

When the 1956 Olympic Games were just around the corner and women not eligible to enter the Three-Day Event, High and Mighty was sold, only to be bought back when he was not used. It is obviously Sheila Willcox's wish to represent Great Britain in 1960, but since the ruling barring women is still in force, Chips might well appear in the role of a Grand Prix dressage horse ridden by his owner. To anyone with an interest in Horse Trials particularly, "Three Days Running" should be an inspiration, not the least attraction being the excellent informal photographs. H. S. T.

Should you decide to publish the enclosed article and photos, a copy to Dr. Gronow (as well as to Colonel Yow) would be greatly appreciated. Should the article be published, it would contribute in its own way to our continued effort of good German-American Relations; in this case, the relationship between our soldiers at McKee Barracks at Crailsheim and the officials of the City of Crailsheim.

World's Records

Pennsylvania National Horse Show
31 North 2nd Street
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Gentlemen:

Reading The Chronicle, I understand you have a $5,000.00 stake for high jump for breaking the world's high jump record. Wouldn't you think it would be better to break the indoor record first, because your show is indoors; 7' 8" over loose rails and tied 7' 10".

GREAT HEART never broke the world's record, he fell over it, but KING'S OWN jumped 8' 3 1/2" outdoors officially; jumped indoors National Horse Show 7' 8" loose rails. So you can't advertise outdoor record to be broken indoors.

The highest a horse ever jumped officially or unofficially is 8' 6" at a non recognized show.

Lots of luck in your horse show, sorry I'm not showing.

Yours very truly,
Fred E. Wettach

P.S. - You didn't state tied or loose rails, it makes a lot of difference.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Copy of a letter addressed to our Letters to the Editor Column)

Corrections

Dear Sir:

In your publication dated August 8, 1958, you report that the small pony hunter championship was awarded to a pony named "Kindling" owned by Mrs. Edward F. Wood and that the reserve championship went to "Peanut Butter" owned by Miss Mimi Cummin, at the horse show at Great Barrington, Mass.

This report is incorrect. This championship was awarded to "Peanut Brittle" owned by Miss Mimi Cummin. I wish that you would publish a correction not only correcting the pony to whom the championship was awarded but also correcting the name of the pony.

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Martha F. Cummin

National's Diamond Jubilee

The 75th Diamond Jubilee year of the National Horse Show, to be celebrated Nov. 4-11 at Madison Square Garden, will be featured by five international jumping teams, and a total of 26 major championships. Prize lists scheduling $30,000 plus in awards, and entry blanks just mailed to exhibitors are assured of drawing the top horses and riders from all over the U. S. and abroad.

The U. S. Equestrian Team, returning home next week after a highly successful European invasion, will compete against West Germany, 1956 Olympic champions; Mexico, whose team is trained by Brig. Gen. Humberto Mariles; Canada, and Cuba. General Mariles' son and daughter, Humberto, Jr., 18, and Vicki, 16, are both skilled riders over the high international jumps as members of their country's new team.

Led by William "Bill" Steinkraus as captain, Hugh Wiley, George Morris and Frank Chapot are flying back to New York with 10 U. S. horses and their coach, Bert de Nemethy. Arrival Sept. 12th will be followed by a brief rest and then intensive training for the three international shows at Harrisburg, Pa., New York City, and Toronto. The American riders distinguished themselves abroad by winning 16 individual firsts, including the King George V Cup.

Judges for the five-nation international jumping are Walter B. Devereux, former president of the National Horse Show; Lt. Col. Stuart C. Bate, of Canada, and Brig. Gen. John T. Cole. Colonel Bate, Col. C. C. Jadwin, Rev. E. L. Melton and Col. D. W. Thackeray will judge jumpers.

Hunters will be judged by Norman W. Hall, Mrs. C. C. Jadwin, and T. Fred Marsman, Mrs. John J. McDonald, Mrs. Paul J. Stueber, and Mrs. J. Schuyler Wilson. Dressage judges are Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, Maj. Robert J. Borg, and Mr. Marsman.

Dressage At Washington International

Europe's internationally famous riders Mrs. Liselott Linsenhoff and Miss Hannelor Weygand, both of Germany, are to present the first dual Olympic Dressage exhibition ever to be seen in America, at the Washington-International Horse Show in the D. C. National Guard Armory, Oct. 10-15th.

Mrs. Linsenhoff and Miss Weygand competed as members of the German Team in the 1956 Olympic Equestrian Games at Stockholm, Sweden, where their performances enabled Germany to deadlock Sweden, at 2,346 points, for the Grand Prix de Dressage championship.

GERMAN COMMENT ON U.S. TEAM

In a report on the Nations Cup class at the Aachen (Germany) Show, Herr Von Killisch-Horn, show correspondent of the leading daily newspaper "Die Welt" said that the American riders were equal to the winning Spanish team till the end and that only their lack of international show experience cost them the victory.

He continues: "This has so far been the biggest success of this young team from overseas;.... they have earned success by the intelligent and thorough method of having had the jumping team for years under the homogeneous and thorough training of Bert de Nemethy together with the excellent riding team captain William Steinkraus. This foundation, without the existence of army equitation and in the absence of government support, only on a private basis, is at the moment unique in the world. It should give our responsible equitation authorities something to think about, as they have fallen behind the American initiative in spite of the general conditions for equitation with their large basis of public support being much better in Germany".

Recommendations to Parents & Instructors

A. JOIN THE AHSA AND STUDY ITS RULE BOOK! Study Equitation as a subject. Buy and READ some of the excellent texts on this subject. Subscribe to Horse Show Publications. Be members of your Circuit or Area Associations and attend their meetings. Talk to experts. Inquire.

B. WATCH ALL THE CONTESTANTS - not just your own! Make point-by-point comparisons of YOUR Rider to those being consistently pinned higher. There are no mysteries in Equitation - no secrets - but like in every competitive undertaking, to teach it, to assist others, YOU must first understand and master it. A "good bluff" is not good enough anytime, and particularly with our Juniors.

C. LISTEN AT OR NEAR THE RAIL DURING CLASSES. It is too bad that such a large number of adults are nearly completely ignorant of even the most basic and elemental points of good Equitation. Such breeds the all too apparent poor-sportsmanship-remarks of both parents and instructor-trainers.

D. TO COUNTENANCE SUCH THINGS i.e.; as the practice of allowing a child to ride a good inside leg and foot (next the Judge) while letting the outside member rock-and-roll is just the same as encouraging delinquency in the youthful, juvenile personality, to cite but one of the frequent adult offenses in this Division of our Sport. Parents or Instructors countenancing "deliberate shift from proper ring place to gain a better mount when Change-of-Horse is announced" is another "misdemeanor" too often seen in OUR Circuit Equitation Classes, and such "cheats" the rider rightfully entitled to a certain mount. Again, let Interstate people set an example of admirable adult sportsmanship before our Juveniles!

Some of the uncouth ringside methods and manners of coaching of Juveniles are shameful and poor-sport; reprehensible efforts to upset a competitor are to be deplored in all instances. When the Child Rider is through the ingate it is in a classroom-on its own-the examination has started. Self-improvement and self-reliance are at stake. Let's be as GOOD SPORTS ourselves as our Junior contestants try to be.

E. YOU MUST REALIZE THAT MOST JUDGES MARK DOWN a contestant because of gum-chewing, sloppy hat positions, etc., which situations are YOURS to control! You are responsible for ring manners, ring courtesy, ring conduct and sportsmanlike showmanship, just as you are for riding ability and horsemanship knowledge.

F. ALWAYS TAKE YOUR RIDER WITH YOU IF AND WHEN YOU ACCOST THE JUDGE, and only AFTER a Class. Make your inquiry as YOU would like to be approached in reversed circumstances. Remember that your child is with you, listening, thinking and receiving life-long impressions of your own intelligence, fair play attributes, sportsmanship, knowledge and courtesy as well as those of the Judge. In Interstate, just as we have no patience with Judges who state "that Equitation is alright if it were not for the d---parents" we should not condone the Equitation Parent or Instructor who so wildly and unfairly berates the Judge as to be downright unmannerly crude and uncouth. Our Sport has no place for such ill bred people and "poor sports". Too many of our Exhibitors by such despicable conduct, whether they know it or not, or care one way or another, are teaching their own child-exhibitors that life itself is a "bum deal" with crookedness rampant. Thank goodness such people are few - but the few are TOO MANY for the good of our great sport!

*(Better still, send your Rider ALONE, to the Judge for a chat!)

Recommendations to the Juvenile Contestants

JOIN THE AHSA AND STUDY ITS RULE BOOK. Read and study good books on Equitation. What one learns after one knows it all, is what counts in life AND in riding. To ride well you must know both "how to" and "why". To be a "pretty picture" on a horse is not necessarily good riding.

Be patient. To acquire the ability to ride well and to master horsemanship is a long and difficult assignment and both develop only in ratio to your knowledge, practice and instruction over several years.

Buy the joy and benefits of accomplishment will repay you WELL!

None of us can win all the time. Be a good sport always. Be the BEST sport in every Class you show in and soon you'll be the most popular person on your circuit.

Your efforts and conduct can make our Equitation Classes in Interstate the most enjoyed by all.

Have lots of fun! In this sport, enjoyment is the prime award of participation. When you ENJOY contest riding, you are getting the greatest possible good from your time, travel, study and practice.

Woodbyrne urging, passed the tiring Inn Field and Drought Year to gain 2nd money from the $1,000 purse. Faltering in the final stages, Inn Field gave way to let Drought Year and young Louis Neilson III, move into 3rd money.

Grand Chal and Mary March, both suffering mishaps at the 4th fence, finished behind the mentioned horses as named to complete the field. Mrs. Henry Obre's *Coup-de-Vite started but lost Kenneth Field over the 14th fence while running 3rd. The rider was merely chagrined and came back to ride in other races. The victory marked Gillian's first success of the year and the mare covered the 19 timber fences and the "about" 3 miles over firm turf in 6:25 2/5.

Turf Races

A 7-furlong turf race opened the day of sport and 14 maidens came out to compete. Unsuccessful in 4 starts in this country last year, the Barclay Stable of Philadelphia's John McShain brought out *Plush to win his 1958 debut. Losing an early lead at the 5/8 marker, the 4-year-old gelding by *Solar Slipper-Felasteen responded to L. Keen and came on to win by 1 1/2 lengths. Mrs. H. K. Hickey's Ocean Deep was 2nd, 3 lengths to the good of Mrs. M. G. Walsh's Hindrance, favorite in the event. The winner broke his maiden by running the 7 furlongs over turf in 1:30.

A 1 1/16 mile turf test for claimers in the $4,000-$3,500 class was 2nd on the card and 11 accepted the issue. Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's Tombigbee and W. Burling Cocks' B-Day composed an entry trained by the latter and it was fortunate for the racing association that this was the case. At the start in front of the stands, an assistant starter had Tombigbee turned backwards and was holding his head as the starter sent the field away. Kenneth Field and B-Day saved the day for those who wagered on the entry, getting up to pass his field in the final stages and win by 1 1/2 lengths. Mrs. William Cox Wright's *Aria Viva, the favorite, finished 2nd, 3 lengths in front of Queen's Flight, a home-bred owned by Mrs. Jules Gomez. The winner negotiated the trip in 1:48 3/5.

Hurdle Races

Trainer D. M. (Mike) Smithwick sent out the first of his two winners for the day when he saddled Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Out of Reach to win the Cowtown, a 1 1/2 mile hurdle test for claiming horses. Running with a $4,000 claiming price, Out of Reach responded to Paddy Smithwick and wrested command from Charles W. Stitzer's Good Sign on approaching the 9th and final hurdle. Not to be denied after this, the pair led over the last hurdle by a length and drew out to score by 3 1/2 lengths. Good Sign held the place safe, a length in front of the rapidly closing Flaw, owned and trained by Morris H. Dixon. Mrs. A. J. Smithwick's Crag and Major General Richard K. Mellon's Jackdow completed the finishing field. Eugene Jacobs' Mycroft was pulled up in the final stages while running last. The winner, registering his first victory of the year, was timed in 3:14 3/5.

Trainer Grover W. Stephens chalked up a double for the day when he sent out Hubert B. Phipps' home-bred Highland Light to depart from the maiden ranks in the 1st division of the Christiana. 7 maiden hurdlers went postward and when sent off, C. Mahlon Kline's *Isle of Shine opened up an early lead of 8 lengths. Coming back to his field after the 5th hurdle, the Irish import faded to be replaced by Highland Light. Moving well, the eventual winner drew away from his field under Harry Hatcher's urging to give the latter a double for the day in an easy fashion. All completed the course, excepting Mrs. George L. Ohlstrom's Claribelle, who went lame and was pulled up by Danny where T. J. Albert's Top Branch crashed through a wing with Joseph L. Aitcheson, Jr. Visiting the real estate department for the second time during the day, John Knowles skidded across the turf when George T. Weymouth's Deo Delight came a cropper over the 4th hurdle.

A sophomore filly by Nirgal-Your Game, the Montpelier miss negotiated the 1 1/2 miles and 7 hurdles in 2:44 1/5.

The Lewisville (turf course), abt. 7 furlongs, 3 & up. Purse: $800. Net value to winner: $505; 2nd: $160; 3rd: $80; 4th: $40. Winner: gr.-g., 4, by *Solar Slipper-Felasteen Cross, by Sir Cosmo. Trainer: R. G. Woolfe. Breeder: Lord Dunraven, Ireland. Time: 1:30.

Marzani in the stretch. In scoring his initial victory over hurdles, the Virginia-bred gelding by *Nordlicht covered the 1 1/2 miles and 7 hurdles in 2:45 3/5.

The second division of the Christiana brought out 10 neophyte hurdlers and made Ray Woolfe the 3rd trainer to saddle a double at the session. Ably ridden by the trainer's son, Ray Jr., Mrs. Marion duPont Scott's 3-year-old filly, Your Point, made her first outing over hurdles a winning one. Running 2nd behind Randolph D. Rouse's Repeat Mandate for the 1st trio of fences, the filly took command after landing over the 3rd and responded to her ex-Marine rider and gradually drew away from her field to register by 2 1/2 lengths over Mrs. William Cox Wright's Homework. Coupled with Homework as the Morris H. Dixon-trained entry, C. Mahlon Kline's Crighton finished 3rd, 2 lengths behind his stablemate.

wick scoring his third victory in the five day period, Mrs. T. A. Randolph's Walrus won by three parts of a length in a driving finish at the direct expense of Pounditout, Jr., which moved out of claiming company in this race, to put in a good effort. A-way poorly, it took Pounditout, Jr., several fences before he got to the front, but the effort took too much out of him, and he gave way to the eventual winner going to the final jump. It was six lengths back to *Romeo for third, with *Ballybrittas, Count Down and Square Circle completing the field in that order. Walrus ran the distance in the good time of 3:24 1/5, a little more than a second off the record.

Racing Review

This year's running, the sixth, went to King Ranch's Dotted Line and Howard Grant drove the five-year-old mare to victory. She won by 1 1/4 lengths over Rare Treat, with Market Basket third and Pardala, fourth.

The winner was the public choice at 19 to 10 and second high-weight under 118. Pardala carried the biggest load, 120.

In registering her second win of the year, Dotted Line earned $19,037.50. She has started 10 times and has 3 seconds. Her money collected amounts to $49,272.

Dotted Line is by *Princequillo-Inscribe, by Brazado, and was bred by King Ranch. Max Hirsch trains her.

Short Takes of Late Stakes

Flight History scored in the six-furlong Hawthorne Inaugural Handicap on September 2.

Bounty Bay trimmed the favored Dagoon in the Chicago Handicap at Hawthorne on September 6.

The Shoe, owned by Rex Ellsworth, was victorious in the Del Mar Derby, August 30.

Del Mar's Palomar Handicap, September 4, went to Camloc.

Little Reaper was home first in the Border Cities Handicap at Hazel Park, August 30. Cal's Choice won the Labor Day Handicap at Hazel.

The Great Lakes Stakes, at Randall Park, August 30, was taken by Ragout.

Randall's Youthful Stakes, on Labor Day, went to Wet Back.

Sunningdale won the Chagrin Valley at Randall, September 6.

The Michigan Derby, Hazel Park, was won by Hillsdale. The inaugural of the race was held on September 6.

Short A Horse

Calumet Farm's three-year-old filly, A Glitter, has pretty well established herself as one of the maybe four top ones of her age and sex this year. She won the Betsy Ross, she took the testing Coaching Club of America Oaks at a mile and three eighths, she handed Idun her first defeat in an allowance race at Belmont Park, and, most recently, she smothered the field in the Monmouth Oaks. In other words she is a real runner.

Know what? She almost didn't get to the races in the east at all this year. She put together a record somewhat less than impressive last year and early in 1958. Consequently, when time came for the Calumet animals to ship east after Tim Tam's Kentucky Derby win, Mr. Jones looked at A Glitter's record and then at her magnificent breeding (*Khaled-A Glean by *Blenheim II) and is reported to have been just about ready to ship her to Lexington to join the broodmares. However, one of the grooms was short a horse, so A Glitter was sent along to fill in thereby getting another chance. She did right well by it too.

A Glitter has an odd habit of switching her tail when she runs. That little habit is usually deplored because it indicates the animal has her mind on something else. In this filly's case, however, it doesn't seem to matter much what she has her mind on: she runs fine, tail switching, obstinate disposition, and all.

MARCUS' WELSH PONIES

William J. Marcus of Sattley, Sierra County, California, after an extensive tour of Wales this summer, has purchased 22 ponies which are being shipped to California on the Motor Ship Panama via the Panama Canal. The ponies were selected from the stud farms of H. L. Richards, S. G. Prosser, Pam R. Horton, T. Wilding-Davies, Mrs. N. Pennell, T. J. Gwyn Price, I. V. Eckley, John Pritchard, and T. Parry.

Filho da Puta was a brown horse bred by Sir W. Maxwell in 1812. He was a first foal, and his sterling racing merit did much to dissipate the prejudice old time horsemen had entertained for them.

Filho was a brown son of Haphazard from Miss Barnet by Waxy. In Sir W. Maxwell's green and gold jacket he won four races as a three year old, among them the Richmond Cup, four miles, Doncaster Club Stakes, two miles and the Doncaster St. Leger. He was then sold to Mr. Houldsworth and as a four-year-old won the Doncaster Cup and the Dundas Stakes at Richmond.

For the Gold Cup at Preston he was beaten by the famous Dr. Syntax. He also was beaten after a very hard and closely contested finish by Sir Joshua in a match for 1000 guineas a side, a race that created a greater interest than any event of the kind in Yorkshire for years. Filho was a highly successful sire.

Russell Corey, right, and his sister Patricia, left, introduce their new dog Crusader of Carthew to Patricia's hunter, Nova Bill, a frequent winner in the show ring. Nova Bill was shown at the Piping Rock Horse Show, the Piping Rock Club, Locust Valley, for the benefit of the Family Service Association of Nassau County. Crusader, who was purchased recently in England by the children's mother, Mrs. Alan L. Corey, Jr., of Old Westbury, won the Golden Retriever Club of England's specialty show at Oxford, this year. The dog will have to wait until 1959 to enter the Piping Rock Show ring. The only dog show scheduled at the famous club is the Long Island Kennel Club's show in May of '59.

BOB DUFFY

Col. F. W. Koester, general manager of the California Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, and Humphrey S. Finney, president of Fasig-Tipton Company of California, have announced appointment of Robert F. (Bob) Duffy of Baltimore, Md., to the dual position of sales assistant to Col. Koester and sales manager for Fasig-Tipton of California.

Duffy has been connected with Fasig-Tipton for 10 years, having served as assistant to the president in the operation of Saratoga and many other eastern sales. He replaces Ralph Retler, who has returned to Maryland. Duffy will assume his new duties in September.

PAT SMYTHE

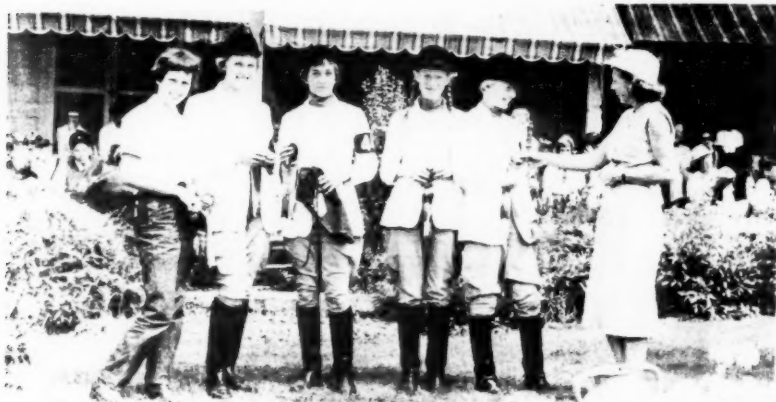

Britain's leading woman rider Pat Smythe, who was carried unconscious to the hospital after a fall at the Kingston Show, near Loughborough, England, last month, is making a rapid recovery. Fortunately no bones were broken.

STALL WALKING OWNER

Milton Ritzenberg, of the North Hill Farm, Berryville, Va., feels that any stall walking around his racing stable should be done by the owner rather than by his horses. In consequence he never went to bed the night before the running of the Test Stakes at Saratoga on August 14th, but sat up all night studying a racing form while his entry, Any Morn, took it easy in deep straw. This program was markedly successful, for the next day Any Morn led the field from start to finish, registering by far the most distinguished of her successes to date.

CANADIAN MOUNTIES

Five major shows in Omaha, Little Rock, Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco have joined together to present the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride to approximately 500,000 show patrons during an autumn tour, the cost of which will be close to $100,000.

ROSS' WELSH PONIES

After becoming Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, Frank M. Ross, of Vancouver, dispersed most of his Welsh herd, but retained the famous broodmare Coed Coch Mefusen, the dam of Coed Coch Madog, currently the most famous stallion in Wales. Out of this mare he has a yearling colt, a 2-year-old filly, and a 4-year-old broodmare who already has produced a stud colt.

ADDED

The Royal Winter Fair has added breeding classes for Welsh ponies to its program this year. An open mare class and an open stallion class are scheduled for Sat. Nov. 22nd, the last day of the "Royal". Mrs. Campbell Moodie, London, England will judge the Welsh ponies and a trophy for the best Welsh pony shown in hand is being presented by the Welsh Pony and Cob Society of Great Britain. Broadview

MRS. OVERLY

Mrs. Howard Fair, the former Jean Hanna, recently resigned as Regional Supervisor of the Eastern Pennsylvania Region for the United States Pony Clubs. Mrs. Fair has done a terrific job in building up the region and will be much missed. Her position is now in the capable hands of Mrs. W. Edward Overly, of Reading, Pa.

ROYAL WELSH

Champion Welsh Mountain pony at the Royal Welsh Show, held at Bangor, Wales, July 23-25, was Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan's broodmare Sian Cwilt, making her first appearance at a major show. Lord Kenyon's Criban Victor won the stallion class and Mr. T. Wilding-Davies' yearling filly, Fayre Kandy, the yearling class.

MRS. DEAN BEDFORD

Mrs. Dean Bedford, who has spent the past eight months in England, recently returned to this country and is resuming her post as Regional Supervisor for Maryland of the United States Pony Clubs. During her absence this work was in the capable hands of Sylvia Boas.
